In an area subject to various landscape constraints, in addition to the hydraulic constraint, the design of a small office and an activity service of a company operating in the field of conception and construction of gardens was required. During the first meetings the client had indicated that they wanted to build a very simple wooden hut.

The idea was to propose a structure made of wood and glass walls, of simple execution, with a modern and minimalist imprint. With the dual function of acting also as a business card.

Located on a higher point of the plot, with a green roof to mitigate the impact, surrounded by the plants and flowers used by the company.
